Travel Information:

Lausanne is located near several international airports. Traveling to and from Lausanne is therefore particularly easy and convenient. Geneva (GVA) is the closest airport to Lausanne, but you may also opt to fly to Zurich or Basel.

From Geneva: at Geneva International Airport follow blue signs "CFF-SBB," go to the airport train station situated in the terminal itself and take a train to Lausanne. It is a 5-10 minute walk from the baggage claim. The train trip takes around 45 minutes. There are usually three trains every hour. Buy your ticket at a vending machine (instructions in English; credit cards accepted; cost: circa $27 one way; DO NOT BUY RETURN TICKETS). See the SBB railway website (<http://www.sbb.ch/en/home.html>) for schedules, pricing, and further information

From Zurich: at Zurich International Airport follow the same instructions as above. There are two direct trains every hour to Lausanne. Note, however, that the train journey takes circa 2.5 hours and the ticket costs around $75 one way. DO NOT BUY RETURN TICKETS.

From the Hotels to UNIL:

All the suggested hotels are easy to reach from the station, as is the campus of the University of Lausanne, UNIL. The hotels are 15-20 minutes from campus, and you will find detailed maps at your hotel.

Travel within Lausanne is quite easy with its two metro lines: M1 runs East - West (downtown to campus); M2 runs North-South (from the lake into town) and connects with M1.
